

Division: Institute of Linguistics and International Communications

Academic programme: 41.03.05 International Relations, Socio-economic and Political Processes

Mode of study: full-time

Programme length: 4 years

Programme level: Bachelor's degree

Language of instruction: Russian

Programme description: The goal of the programme is to combine fluency in two foreign languages with a comprehensive study of various aspects of contemporary international relations: economic, political, cultural, military, etc.

Graduates of this programme can:

- participate in working negotiations in a foreign language
- organize international negotiations, meetings, conferences, seminars
- assist in establishing international contacts and establishing and developing international relations
- coordinate the work of staff and delegations
- search for and process necessary information for professional tasks using electronic resources
- conduct business correspondence to organize international events
- interpret and translate from Russian into English and from English into Russian

Career prospects: economics, politics, business partnership

- Main programme-specific classes
- English and a Second European Language (French, German, or Spanish)
- History and Theory of International Relations
- Diplomatic and Business Etiquette and Protocols
- World Economy and International Economic Relations
- Fundamentals of International Security
- Political Analysis and Forecasting

Programme manager: Rostislav N. Bondarenko, Candidate of Sciences (History), Associate Professor of the Department of International Relations, Political Science and Regional Studies